

Annual 'Baby It's Cold Outside' event returns to Baby Point Gates

Bloor West Villager | Nov 03, 2014

The Baby Point Gates Business Improvement Area (BIA) hosts third its third annual doors open event to kick off the holiday season, Saturday, Nov. 15 at 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

As part of 'Baby It's Cold Outside,' merchants will offer specials and samples, there will be an opportunity to snap a photo with strolling Santa, see lots of elves – singing, face painting, strolling and stilt walking, and enter a draw to win a $1,000 grand prize in "Passport to Win."

"We welcome everybody to explore our district and enjoy our new shops and area developments and beautification," said event chair Joe Valenza in a statement. "Our annual 'Baby It's Cold Outside!' event, with all the holiday activities and entertainment, promises a fun start to the season in Baby Point."

One of Toronto's newest BIAs, Baby Point Gates represents more than 70 specialty shops, restaurants and businesses in the west Toronto Baby Point neighbourhood, which celebrated its centennial year in 2011 and is renowned for its historic stone gates. It is centred by the main intersection of Jane and Annette streets (BIA boundaries – Jane Street, from Lessard to Montye and Annette Street, from Jane to Windermere), and serves local customers (the Junction, Bloor West, Lambton, Old Mill, Swansea, High Park, Baby Point) and the GTA.

Visit www.BabyPointGates.ca and Facebook.com/BabyPointGates for further details.

The Baby Point Gates BIA holds the Baby its Cold Outside event on Nov. 15 featuring special offers with merchants, along with Santa, holiday treats and season entertainment. Last year, Brian Done of Pine On Bloor, pine furniture stamped customer Christie Cook's passport book.